BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Two great ovations, one for Lucie-zia Bori, popular soprano, and the other for Beniamino Gigli, acclaimed tenor, marked the striking incidents attendant on the perfect production of "Manon" in French by the Metropolitan Opera Company Wednesday night as a large crowd gave these stars and the company one of the most enthusiastic demonstrations of appreciation seen here in opera history.

"Manon" brought a large influx of out-of-town visitors and they failed not in giving outward demonstration of their approval and satisfaction with opera, with the stars in it and with everything connected with it. As three more days of the season remain, it was expected that a steady increase in visitors would be noted during the week-end—and that the season would be brought to a close Saturday night in the proverbial blaze of glory with success on both the financial and the artistic sides.

Great Joint Success.

Seldom has any star scored the personal success as did Miss Bori Wednesday night and few times have greater personal distinction been won in a single performance than that secured by Gigli and the pair of stars, working together, secured perhaps the greatest joint success of their respective careers in local opera seasons.

Another distinctive field of music is invaded by "Manon" and it proved to be entirely different in style, in harmonies, in its method of presentation and in its field of presentation.
The evening brought some beautiful flashes of color, some intriguing choruses and some entrancing dances.

Stars in Tonight's "La Gioconda" Enjoy Barbecue

Rosa Ponselle and Giacomo Lauri-Volpi went from their outstanding triumph Tuesday night to enjoy the annual grand opera barbecue at the Druid Hills Country Club, where they are seen above, in the midst of the social event. Resting Wednesday night, they again will be heard tonight in "La Gioconda." Ponselle in the title role and Lauri-Volpi as Enzo Grimaldo.

HAMILTON GUILTY,
IS GIVEN 18 YEARS
IN ASSAULT CASE

Merritt's Friend To Ask
New Trial; Jury Out
Two Hours—Death Demanded by State.

J. L. Hamilton, 31-year-old factory worker and associate of the condemned Alvin E. Merritt, late Wednesday afternoon was found guilty of criminal assault and sentenced to serve from 18 to 20 years in the penitentiary.

The verdict was returned by a jury in Superior Judge E. E. Pomeroy's court after it had deliberated slightly less than two hours.

Judge Pomeroy immediately passed sentence on Hamilton, who stood before the bar surrounded by a cordon of deputy sheriffs, his wife, his mother and his brother, Johnnie Hamilton.

Len B. Guilbeaux, chief of Hamilton's defense counsel, announced that a motion for a new trial and an effort to gain Hamilton's release on bond would be instituted this morning.

Palestine, Texas, April 24.—(AP)— Winds from the southwest swept over sections of eastern Texas shortly after noon today left in their path at least ten dead, scores of injured and heavy damage to farm buildings and crops.

Several persons were reported missing as relief workers dug into debris.

The wind struck heaviest at Slocum, a hamlet 18 miles south of Palestine, where at least ten persons were killed and many injured by a tornado that blew up with little warning, cutting a swath a half-mile wide and four miles long.

A tornado of lesser intensity swept over the James community, four miles north of Center, near the Louisiana border, soon after the Slocum storm. No lives were reported lost, but a woman was seriously injured and seventy-five residents were made homeless when houses were destroyed.

Searchers believed the number dead at Slocum would be increased to more than fifteen. The work of searching debris went forward and several residents were reported missing.

Hospitals Are Filled.
Physicians and ambulances were rushed to the stricken area at Slocum and the I. G. N. hospital and Palestine sanatorium were filled as emergency cars and private automobiles continued to bring in additional injured. Preparations were underway for the care of some of the injured in public buildings. Roads leading to the hamlet were congested with motor cars bearing relief parties from nearby towns.

BOARD TO CONSIDER 5 SCHOOL ADDITIONS

Special Meeting Called for This Afternoon by President George Powell.

Members of the Atlanta board of education today are expected to accept five additions to schools completed from funds provided through the 1926 school bond issue. A special meeting of the board has been called for 4 o'clock this afternoon at the city hall by George W. Powell, president, who recently returned from an extensive business trip through the west.

A meeting of the joint contact committees of the school board and the Atlanta bond commission will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the office of G. Lloyd Preacher, architect.

The additions represent an investment of about $145,000 and will add 19 new classrooms and two auditoriums to the equipment already in service. This will relieve classroom congestion and eliminate double sessions in the schools affected, it was announced.

The additions are for Forrest Avenue, Adair, Meador-Goldsmith, Luckie Street and Georgia Avenue schools.

Any other matters of urgent importance also will be considered at the session, Mr. Powell said.

I. O. O. F. TO ELECT OFFICERS TONIGHT AT CONVENTION

Election of officers of the sixteenth division, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will feature the annual spring convention to be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Barnes lodge hall, 163 Baker street, according to announcement Wednesday by Fletcher W. Laird, division deputy grand secretary.

Plans for increasing membership of the division, for participating in the grand lodge convention to be held at Rome, Ga., in May and for celebrating the 110th anniversary of the founding of the Odd Fellows order will be discussed in connection with routine business of the convention.

Officers of the division are O. C. Harris, division deputy grand master; C. W. Norman, division deputy grand warden; Fletcher W. Laird, secretary; J. T. Upchurch, deputy grand treasurer; E. B. Graham, marshal; Newman Lasey, conductor; H. J. Bridgewater, chaplain; B. E. Dillard, guardian, and F. S. Burdett, herald.

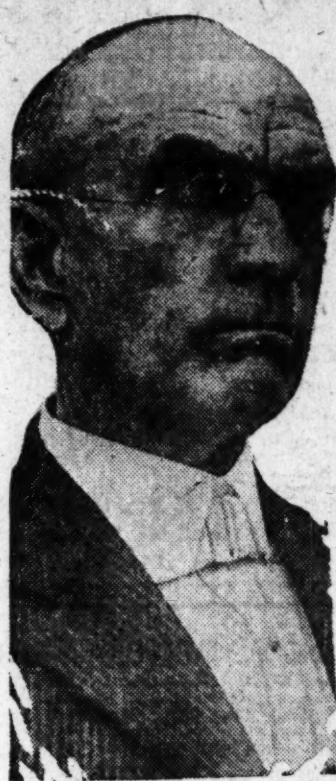

Detected Detective To Explain Illegal Car Parking Today

City Detective J. A. McKibben today will face Recorder A. W. Callaway on charges of violating traffic rules, it was revealed at the police station Wednesday night.

Patrolman J. T. Woodruff tagged a car for parking in front of the Hurt building Tuesday afternoon and when the driver left without responding to a note left on the steering wheel, the officer kept the license number and traced the car through the secretary of state's office.

A policeman was sent to McKibben's home, but he was not there, being on duty on the day watch. He is expected to appear in court today and consequently had not received the subpoena, but he will be served with a summons today when he reports for duty. Fellow officers are planning to be on hand today when the "blue slip" is served on him.

PRISON INSPECTOR IS STILL UNNAMED BY STATE BOARD

No action was taken Wednesday in the election of a successor to the late J. F. Simmons, prison inspector, by the state prison commission in a short executive session. It was understood that several hundred applications had been received and at a meeting of the commission more than a week ago 18 ballots resulted in each commissioner voting for a different candidate, a deadlock ensuing.

Ramsey Will Speak.

R. L. Ramsey, supervisor of Fulton county schools, will be principal speaker at a monthly meeting Friday at 7:30 o'clock of the College Park Thirty Club in the auditorium of the Woman's Club building on Main street. A musical program has also been arranged for the meeting.

Treat Colds 2 Ways With One Treatment

RUBBED on throat and chest, Vicks does two things at once:

- (1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages, and
- (2) It stimulates the skin like an old-fashioned poultice and "draws out" the soreness.

Stops Flery Itch
Almost Instantly

Only one application of Sulfex Skin Lotion, a concentrated liquid, is guaranteed to penetrate every pore and wrinkle and instantly kill germs and infection, thus completely and permanently ending all kinds of itch, soothe a bottle at drug stores. Sulfex Laboratories, Box 90, Atlanta, Ga.—(Adv.)

Great Liver Tonic

Even though your bowels move each day, they frequently retain part of their contents which generate poisons. To correct this unhealthy condition, it is necessary to stimulate the liver and bring about a greater flow of bile which acts to increase intestinal activity, thoroughly cleanse the system of poisonous matter, and thus relieve indigestion, constipation, sick headache, biliousness, lassitude, dizziness, and many other common ills.

Dr. Tutt's Pills are guaranteed to quickly relieve all these conditions. Get them from your druggist. Take them for a few days and see how they improve your general health.—(adv.)

Tells Skinny Men How to Gain Weight

Money Back If You Don't

If the flat chested man whose ribs are almost bursting through his skin doesn't try to make himself look like a real man, no one else will.

When any man or woman needs more weight, they ought to be told that the greatest of all flesh builders is McCoy's Tablets.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Ask at Jacobs' Drug Stores or any drug store for McCoy's Tablets. Marked by McCoy's Laboratories. Also distributors of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil.—(adv.)

WARDLAW WILL MAKE COUNCIL RACE AGAIN

Prominent Member of City
Officialdom Announces Entry From Sickbed.

Sam A. Wardlaw, veteran member of city council from the first ward, Wednesday announced he is a candidate to succeed himself in the primary to be held June 5. Announcement was made from his sickbed at a local hospital.

Mr. Wardlaw has been dangerously ill, but is improving rapidly and Wednesday when a delegation of his friends called on him asking him to become a candidate again, he consented.

During his service as a member of general council from the first ward, Mr. Wardlaw has held many important committee assignments, and is recognized as one of the most popular and progressive members of that body.

He has been superintendent of the Atlanta Joint terminals for many years and is recognized as a leader in local labor circles. He is prominently identified in fraternal circles.

In addition to being chairman of the council committee on municipal markets, he is a member of the police and traffic committees, two of the most important assignments in the gift of the mayor. He is also a member of the special city hall committee directing construction of Atlanta's new $1,000,000 municipal building which will house all departments of the municipal government with the exception of the fire and police divisions.

"I elected, I will continue to give the people of Atlanta and the first ward the same faithful and equitable service that I have in the past," Mr. Wardlaw told the committee after agreeing to become a candidate. "My record is an open book for the review of voters before they cast their ballots in the primary."

PLANS ARE PERFECTED IN ROAD BOND DRIVE

Macon, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—Plans were formulated today for the immediate organization of a statewide general campaign committee in behalf of highway bonds. An executive committee also was appointed at a meeting of advisory committees from several statewide agencies which have been crystallizing sentiment in favor of bonds.

The meeting was held at the Hotel Dempsey during the early afternoon and resulted in the appointment of A. W. McKeand, Atlanta, as campaign manager, and Usher T. Wimslett, Macon, treasurer.

Walter Stewart, Atlanta real estate dealer, was elected temporary chairman of a general campaign committee of all organizations and all other interests favoring or who favor bonds for highways were asked to communicate with him at 608 Atlanta Trust building, Atlanta, so that the membership of the campaign committee may be made from the membership of these organizations throughout the state. Until this general campaign committee is functioning, the executive committee will continue to prepare the field, it was stated. Mr. McKeand was authorized to plan a program of financing. The executive committee will meet in Macon again next week and report on the progress of the organization. The executive committee is as follows: Rhodes Brown, banker, Columbus; C. R. Brown, ordinary, Clarksville; W. R. Bowen, banker, farmer, Fitzgerald; H. N. Mitchell, merchandise broker, Macon; A. J. Lippitt, merchant, Albany; Harry Reed, attorney, Waycross; Frank Turner, merchant, Blythe.

This group will prepare recommendations for the consideration of the general committee when it is formed and holds a meeting. Mr. Stewart will serve as temporary chairman until the first meeting of the general committee when a permanent chairman will be elected.

CROMARTIE GETS MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT IN DEATH

Douglas, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—Following ten hours of deliberation a superior court jury here today returned a verdict convicting Earle Cromartie, Hazlehurst, member of a prominent south Georgia family, of involuntary manslaughter with a recommendation of punishment as a misdemeanor.

Cromartie had been tried on the charge of murder as result of the death of the rear-end baby of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Dent last September in an auto accident here. Mrs. Emma Markett, who was riding in the Dent sedan when Cromartie's larger car hit it, died several weeks later from injuries received in the crash.

The jury received the case at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, retired at midnight and after resuming deliberations this morning brought in the verdict at 12:30 p. m. Judge M. D. Dickerson, who presided at the trial, was expected to pass sentence on his return from Macon, where he held court today. The penalty may be either a fine or sentence.

Cromartie is the son of Representative J. A. Cromartie, of Hazlehurst, and is widely known in this section. A large crowd attended the trial.

CAPT. HARRISON ORDERED TO TAKE COMMAND COURSE

Captain Samuel C. Harrison, who has been stationed at Fort McPherson with the 22nd infantry for the past four years, has been ordered to report to the commandant of the general service schools at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., for duty as a student in the command and general staff school, according to war department orders received here at headquarters of the Fourth corps area and made public Wednesday. The assignment is to take effect on August 31, 1929.

SIXTH DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL MEET TO OPEN TODAY

Griffin, Ga., April 24.—(Special).—Including many sports and literary contests among high schools of the section, the annual Sixth District High School meet will be held at the local high school Thursday and Friday.

Literary events will feature contests in essay work, sewing, declamation, recitation and music, while the sports program will include track events. A display of work done by local students in notebook work, posters and advertisements will be featured in the hall of the Griffin high school building.

DR. JACOBS PLANS TO ATTEND ANNUAL ALUMNI SESSION

Plans to attend the graduate council of Princeton University National Alumni Association to be held on the university campus May 3 and 4, have been completed by Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe university. Dr. Jacobs will leave Atlanta May 2. Following the council session, Dr. Jacobs will proceed to New York on a business trip, returning to Princeton for commencement exercises.

VETERINARIANS CONFER

Alabama Counties Are Reported Free From Ticks.

A conference between Dr. C. A. Carey, of Auburn, Ala., state veterinarian of Alabama, and Dr. J. M. Sutton, Georgia state veterinarian, was held Wednesday at the capitol. Dr. Carey reported that practically all Alabama counties are free from ticks, with the exception of a bad condition in one county in the western part of the state. The Georgia-Alabama border counties of Alabama are entirely free, he said.

MUTE HUSBAND MUST PAY SILENT WIFE ALIMONY

Those who contend that a woman usually gets what she wants by talking for it were given a severe setback Wednesday when the mute wife of a mute barber won her plea for alimony before Superior Judge Virlyn B. Moore.

When the case of Eva Murdock against her husband, I. V. Murdock, was called, court attaches gathered from all over the building for it had been predicted that a novel court battle was on.

First Mrs. Murdock took the stand and through her fingers and an interpreter told Judge Moore that she and her husband couldn't get along and that she needed alimony for the support of their three-month-old child. Murdock followed his wife on the stand and through the same method told the judge that he was supporting his wife and child and they could get along. Judge Moore decided that even though they couldn't disturb their neighbors it was best to keep them apart and make Murdock pay for his child's maintenance.

GAS, KEROSENE TAXES

April Collections Exceed Total for 1928 by $100,000.

Gasoline and kerosene oil collections during April, due for March, exceeded the amount for the same month of last year by approximately $100,000, according to figures released Wednesday by the comptroller general. The April collections passed the collections in March for February taxes by more than $2,500.

State Examining Commission To Gather Financial Data From Institutions of Georgia

Information To Be Gathered Will Be Used in Preparation of New Appropriation Sheet.

Members of the state examining commission next Monday will begin a two-week tour of state institutions for the purpose of gathering information for the preparation of the 1920-21 appropriation sheet, it was announced Wednesday afternoon following a joint meeting of the examining commission and the investigating and budget committee in Governor Hardman's office. Another joint session of the commissions has been called for May 22, when the examining body will report its findings. At various points on the itinerary the examining commission, delegations representing the common schools will be heard, it having been decided to hold one such hearing in each congressional district, as it is thought that this is the most satisfactory way in which to investigate the common school situation and secure information upon which to base a report by the commission affecting this branch of the government. On the conclusion of the visit to the various state institutions, it is the purpose of the commission to visit the various state departments and to consider reports of the special commissions appointed by the governor. The examining commission will make the visits to state institutions by automobile, and probably will be accompanied by the adjutant general.

Plan Formulated To Send Delegate To D. A. V. Meet

Plans were formulated Tuesday by the committee acting for the Betty Harrison Jones Chapter No. 1, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and a representative of the citizens committee appointed by the mayor to conduct an active campaign for the purpose of financing a representation to the National D. A. V. convention at Detroit in June.

The representation will consist of a number of delegates from the local D. A. V. Chapter and the D. A. V. drum and bugle corps, who will actively advocate the indorsement and support of the national organization, D. A. V., for the location of a national soldiers and sailors home at Atlanta.

The committee was composed of L. S. Bellinger, commander; W. J. Folsom, chairman executive committee; William E. Tate, past national commander; O'Glen Ray, national liaison officer, and Howard H. Glenn, manager of the drum and bugle corps, all of the local chapter, and C. F. Dieter, who has been named to act for the citizens committee of Atlanta, who are advocating the location of the home here and are sponsoring the campaign.

principal speaker at a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at the Capital City Club.

He will speak to members of the general convention committee at the noon luncheon and will discuss plans of the International Civitan convention, which will be held in Atlanta June 10, 11 and 12.

The distinguished Civitan leader will arrive in the city early this morning from Birmingham and will be met at the station by a local committee of Civitans, headed by Herbert Porter, chairman of the general convention committee. Mr. MacLean will have breakfast at the Biltmore hotel, after which he will visit various places of interest in the city.

Immediately after the luncheon the distinguished visitor will be taken to Stone Mountain to see the mammoth memorial being carved on the side of the mountain. Various other points of interest will be visited during the afternoon.

Mr. MacLean will be a guest of Mr. Porter tonight at the opera "La Gioconda," after which he will leave at midnight for Asheville, N. C., for a brief visit.

Mr. MacLean is first president and founder of the International Council of Service Clubs and is one of the most prominent figures in the Civitan activities.

JOHN H. HEWLETT, FORMER ATLANTAN, TO WED IN GOTHAM

New York, April 24.—(Special.)—Miss Katherine A. Mulqueen, 26, of 65 Central Park West, this city, and John H. Hewlett, 26, the son of Robert J. and Ruth Almond Hewlett of Conyers Ga., where he was born, obtained a license to wed at the municipal building here today. The couple announced they would be married later in the city.

Mr. Hewlett gives his residence here as the Hotel Knickerbocker on West Forty-fifth street. Miss Mulqueen is the daughter of James L. and Mary Lieberman Mulqueen, of Philadelphia, Pa., where she was born.

John Hewlett, the son of Robert J. and Ruth Almond Hewlett, of Conyers, Ga., formerly was connected with the news staff of The Constitution and left this city to become connected with the news staff of the New York newspapers. He is well known here.

ETHERIDGE NEGOTIATES COUNTY LOAN, REPORT

Courthouse Rumor Has It That $1,000,000 Is Secured by Chairman in New York.

Unconfirmed reports reached Atlanta Wednesday that Chairman Paul S. Etheridge, of the Fulton county board of commissioners, who is now in New York, had succeeded in putting through a loan of $1,000,000 for the county which, if obtained, would relieve the county's present financial stringency.

Chairman Etheridge has been in New York since early this week. An executive meeting of the commission, which twice has been postponed, is set for this afternoon. At the courthouse Wednesday it was said the meeting probably would not be held until Friday afternoon or Saturday morning. Chairman Etheridge is expected to return to Atlanta Friday night.

If the million-dollar loan has been obtained by Mr. Etheridge, a large portion of it will be used to pay back salaries of county employees, many of whom have not been paid since February 1.

It has been the custom of the commission to borrow from Atlanta banks at this time every year to "tide things over" until the tax payments are made. This year however, the Atlanta banks were unable to accommodate the county.

An effort to obtain a loan in New York was launched by the county last month. Until the unconfirmed reports of Mr. Etheridge's success Wednesday it was believed here that the commissioner's efforts would result in failure.

MACON ANNEXATION FOUGHT BEFORE SOLONS

Macon, Ga., April 24.—(P)—Efforts of annexationists to push the city limits out, taking in residential districts, but eliminating manufacturing districts, was criticized today by speakers who appeared before the Bibb county delegation to the state legislature.

The so-called Merritt plan, indorsed by city council, came in for attack today. Alderman Frank Merritt put through a proposal in city council to take in additional residential districts, but to eliminate manufacturing establishments within the new territory.

This was to have been the last hearing given by the legislators on the subject. There were demands by speakers today that there be a referendum on the subject.

Macon's city limits are in close to the heart of the city and a movement was begun some time ago to take in additional territory which would increase the city's population by more than 20,000.

Elinor Smith Sets New Mark In Long Flight

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., April 24.—Elinor Smith, 17-year-old flying flapper of Long Island, won a victory today in the four-sided battle being waged among two women from the eastern seaboard and two from the west for the woman's solo endurance flight record.

She brought her plane down at 2:23:16 p. m. after 20 hours 21 minutes and 22 seconds in the air, beating the record of 22 hours, three minutes and 12 seconds established by Louise McPhetridge, of California, by four hours 18 minutes and 20 seconds.

Before Mrs. McPhetridge, Miss Bobbie Trout, of California was the record holder. Miss Trout best an earlier record of Miss Smith, who in turn on that earlier flight beat a record held by Viola Gentry, Long Island's flying cashier.

Miss Smith's record today was within nine hours 11 minutes and 49 seconds of the man's solo endurance flight record of 35 hours 33 minutes and 21 seconds established at Roosevelt field last month by Martin Jensen.

Less than three minutes before she landed Miss Smith exceeded the first world endurance record ever established at this field. In 1921 Eddie Stinson, of Detroit, and Lloyd Bertand, who was lost with the trans-Atlantic plane Old Glory, established a record there of 26 hours 18 minutes and 35 seconds, which was two minutes and 57 seconds less than the record set single-handed today by Miss Smith.

Miss Smith brought her plane, a cabin monoplane, borrowed for the flight from G. M. Bellanca, airplane designer, down to a perfect landing.

PENNSYLVANIA GIVEN CHARTER; NOW IN DELAWARE

Philadelphia, April 24.—(P)—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company today announced the incorporation under the laws of Delaware of the Pennroad Corporation, an investment company empowered to invest its funds in securities of any corporation or other agency, including those engaged in transportation of any description on land, water or by air, but without power to operate railroads.

It was stated there was no present intention that the new corporation should acquire existing investments of the Pennsylvania company, such as Lehigh Valley, Walhalla, and Norfolk and Western securities, as reported, but rather to have its resources available for new investments.

The Pennroad corporation will have an authorized issue of 10,000,000 shares of common stock without par value, of which 5,000,000 shares will be offered first to stockholders of the Pennsylvania railroad, each holder of two shares in the Pennsylvania Railroad company being eligible to subscribe to one share in the new company at $15 per share.

DR. T. P. HINMAN TO SPEAK TODAY BEFORE JAYCEES

A talk on "Diet" by Dr. T. P. Hinman will feature the weekly meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber of Commerce building at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. Harle Parks will preside.

An attractive entertainment program has been arranged which will include Laura Lee, personality girl appearing at the Howard this week, in several popular song numbers, and Cuba Nawoorby, a dancer, in several specialty numbers.

SERVICES ARRANGED BY SOLON FOR WIFE

Ocala, Fla., April 24.—(P)—Congressman Frank Murphy, of Ohio, arrived here today from Washington to complete funeral arrangements for his wife, who was killed in an automobile accident near Ocala Monday. The congressman said the body of his wife would not be taken back to their home in Steubenville for several days because of the serious condition of his mother-in-law, Mrs. L. B. Marcus, who is in a hospital here suffering from injuries received in the accident. The accident, said to have been caused by a blown tire that caused the machine to overturn, occurred while Mrs. Murphy, her mother and a party of friends were en route from St. Petersburg to Silver Springs.

WEST END WOMAN RESTORED AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING

Mrs. Lanford Says Results from Sargon Treatment Were Truly Remarkable. Is Like Different Woman.

"I have finished my third bottle of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills, have gained eight pounds and feel better than I have in seven years. When I first thought of taking this treatment my children had little faith in it, but after the wonderful benefit I have gotten from it, they tell me, 'Don't forget your Sargon, mother,' and help me remember the hours I take it."

MRS. S. L. LANFORD.

"About seven years ago I commenced to lose energy and strength and gradually I became generally run-down. As the medicines and treatments I had taken didn't give me any permanent benefit, my condition became worse. I lost weight, my appetite was poor, I didn't seem to enjoy any food I ate. I couldn't eat heavy foods without suffering terribly from indigestion. The food would sour, violent pains would come in my stomach and extend up into my chest, and I was beginning to think I would always have to live on milk and other liquids. The lack of proper well-digested food, undernourished me of course, and I became weak, nervous and anemic. I got very little sound, restful sleep and during the day I was tired and at times almost unable to get up."

"I knew it was necessary for me to get a powerful, reconstructive tonic, something that would not only relieve my ailments but that would enrich my blood and build up my strength. And that is exactly what the Sargon treatment has done. I have taken only three bottles of this wonderful medicine, but I feel like a different woman. I sleep good at nights, my color is better showing that my blood has been enriched. I eat hearty meals and enjoy and digest them. It is remarkable the way my strength and energy have returned. And what a relief it is to be free of nervousness! My friends notice the difference in my appearance and tell me how much better I am looking."

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are mild, but dependable. I consider them very important part of my treatment. They have stimulated my liver without purging or nausea. It is a pleasure for me to let others know what great benefit I have gotten from this splendid treatment."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Sytha L. Lanford, well-known and highly esteemed resident of 733 Oak St., S. W.

Hundreds of people from all over Atlanta continue to throng Jacobs' main store, 6 and 8 Marietta street, to learn about this revolutionary new medicine from the Special Sargon Representative, who is taking a personal interest in every case. Those suffering from long-standing troubles are especially invited to consult him. Sargon may be obtained at all Jacobs' drug stores throughout Atlanta. —(adv.)

Patronage Committees In South Fail To Obtain Administration Approval

Georgia, South Carolina and Florida Groups Being Reorganized by Postmaster-General.

Washington, April 24.—(AP)—Patronage committees set up by republican leaders in some of the southern states in consultation with Horace A. Mann, Washington lawyer, who directed the Hoover presidential campaign in the south, have failed to gain complete administration approval.

Those selected for three of the states—Georgia, South Carolina and Florida—are in process of reorganization under the direction of Postmaster-General Brown. Walter Newton, administrative assistant to the president, and James Francis Burke, general counsel of the republican national committee.

Those for two other states—Mississippi and Alabama—have been approved and it was stated today that a satisfactory committee was being organized in Texas under the direction of R. B. Creager, the republican national committee.

There being no national committee for Georgia since the deposition of Ben W. Davis, negro, by the Kansas City convention last June, an executive committee of three was placed in control of the committee, with six other members, one for every congressional district in the state, under the Mann plan, the republican committee.

The district committees were Charles Adams, of Cedarville, J. H. Petty, of Savannah; T. N. Hendricks, of Edison; H. C. Lovora, of Carrollton; Mrs. Henry C. Davis, of Macon, and Mrs. Mary Harris Armour, of Tate.

A national committee for Georgia is yet to be selected by the republican national committee, but the expectation is that whoever is agreed upon to head the new committee for that state may be selected as the successor to Davis.

In the cases of Virginia and North Carolina, committees are unnecessary. It was explained that appointment of postmasters would be handled through the republican congressmen elected from those states and that recommendations for other appointments would come through the national committee, the state chairman and others, including outstanding democrats who supported Hoover.

No move is being made by the administration to approve the committee of three in the case of Tennessee. A watchful waiting policy has been adopted pending a determination whether the republican harmony conference in that state will produce desired results.

Refusal of the administration committee to approve the committee which had been endorsed by Mann may bring a break between the president and his former southern campaign manager. Friends of Mann assert that he is ready to ask for a showdown and that if he fails to obtain it he is ready to retire from the political picture.

Started in Campaign. Reorganization of the party in the south was begun by Mann during the campaign and he has undertaken to complete that work by setting up new committees in the states. Some of these have been disapproved and will be completely reorganized.

One aim of Mann was to end rule within the party in the few remaining states where it existed and it is indicated clearly that this policy is to be followed by the administration committee in whatever organizations are set up.

This has been done in the case of Mississippi, where Lamont Rowlands, who directed the Hoover campaign for Mann in that state, is organizing the committee. Perry W. Howard, negro national committeewoman, now is on trial on charges growing out of federal patronage dispensation, has been ignored, as has Mary Booz, negro national committeewoman.

Oliver D. Street, national committeewoman for Alabama, heads the committee in that state, which, like the one in Mississippi, has in its membership prominent democrats who gave their support to Hoover in the last campaign.

Selected Committee. Glenn B. Skipper, republican national committeewoman for Florida, and Mann, selected the committee for Florida which has been found unsatisfactory by Postmaster-General Brown, Newton and Burke. A protest against the Skipper-Mann organization was lodged by A. F. Knotts, republican state chairman; W. J. Howie, republican candidate for governor in the last election, and J. Leonard Replogie, of Palm Beach, who left Washington today for Florida after conferences with the administration committee.

Members of this committee said that both Knotts and Howie, who polled sufficient votes to enable the republican party to place a full state slate of candidates in the primaries at the next election, were ignored by Skipper and Mann in making up the committee, which includes in its membership George Fish, of Jacksonville; Leo Stalaker, of Tampa, and Mrs. J. H. Williams, of Jacksonville, democrats who supported Hoover, and George R. Deany, of Bradenton; Mrs. Ida A. Oberlin, of Miami, and Mrs. Eunice Morgan, of Tampa, regular republicans.

Administration officers said this committee was not sufficiently representative.

Boards Will Discuss Fire Protection Plan

Joint Meeting of Firemasters and County Commissioners Is Set for Today.

An effort to assure fire protection to residents of Fulton county who reside outside the corporate limits of the city of Atlanta will be made at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, when members of Fulton county commissioners will meet with members of the Atlanta board of firemasters for the purpose of considering steps to be taken in preservation of the service.

Members of the fire board have announced that unless the commissioners provide funds to assist in paying for the protection, the city will withdraw the service. Under the decision, this will be effective May 1.

Councilman William E. Saunders, of the twelfth ward, and chairman of the board, stated the session had first been called for 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, but that the date had been changed due to the holiday Friday in observance of Memorial Day.

2 DEAD, 11 INJURED IN COMMUNAL RIOT

Bombay, India, April 24.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and 11 injured last night in a communal riot when Moslems rushed a Hindu procession near their mosque. A silver idol was being carried in the procession.

Chief W. R. Cody of the Atlanta fire department and his family will no longer have to listen to the daily wail of the city traffic, for Wednesday was "moving" day for the Cody family.

Chief Cody and his family now reside at 665 Morningside drive, N. E., having moved from fire headquarters Company No. 1 on West Alabama street.

Chief Cody has lived in the uptown residence since August 1, 1915, when he was made chief of the department. He has been connected with the city fire department for more than half a century.

The chief has wished for some time for his family to live in a more desirable residential community, and his desires were accentuated by recent indications of the early removal of fire headquarters from its present site, which is included in the location of the United States government for a new postoffice.

Chief Cody now becomes a voter in the ninth ward instead of the first and will be in the same community with Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, who a short time ago moved to Morningside drive after having lived in Oakland City for many years.

On the program are: Miss Tommie Dora Barker, Atlanta librarian; Miss Olla M. Weyth, Savannah librarian; Miss Julia Wright Merrill, executive secretary of the extension division of the American Library Association; Miss Margaret Jenison, president of the Georgia Library Association; Dr. W. A. Shelton, of Emory university; J. H. Durgin, of the MacMillan Company; Miss Elizabeth Havenotte, Valdosta librarian; Miss Helen Daughtrey, Macon children's librarian; Miss Sallie Boone, Mercer university librarian; Miss Parthenia George, Shorter college librarian, and Miss Wheatcroft.

EMORY UNIVERSITY DEBATORS SCORE WIN OVER TULANE

BOSTON CRUISE PARTY TO SEE ATLANTA TODAY

50 Members of Chamber of Commerce Will Arrive on Special Train.

The Boston Chamber of Commerce special train will arrive in Atlanta this morning on a national land cruise which is to cover the United States, with stopovers at principal cities from Boston to San Francisco and from Houston, Texas, to Portland, Ore. The party, left Boston April 23 and the trip will continue exactly one month.

Among the entertainment features of the day will be a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon, when a number of prominent Atlantans have been asked to be present. Channing Cope is chairman of the entertainment committee. The party leaves at 11 o'clock tonight for Birmingham.

Included in the list of prominent men who are making the trip are Gerrit Fort, president of the Raymond & Whitcomb Company, which is conducting the trip; W. A. Barrows, general passenger agent of the Boston & Albany railroad; Arthur Race, managing director of the Copely Plaza hotel, and others.

The members of the party are traveling on a special train which is said to be an entirely new departure in railroad equipment, each person occupying a drawing room or a compartment, there being none of the usual Pullman sections with upper and lower berths. The train was designed for the Raymond & Whitcomb Company for their famous land cruises in America.

In addition to the unusually luxurious sleeping quarters there is the recreation hall, with chairs for 50 persons, which is used en route for moving pictures, talks and card games. This car also has a fully equipped gymnasium.

System of Federal Warehouses Asked In Farm Measure

Washington, April 24.—(AP)—A system of federal warehouses under the jurisdiction of the secretary of agriculture to be used for the storage of all farm products was proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Howard, Democrat, Nebraska.

The measure would provide $42,000,000 for the construction of the warehouses and would exclude the secretary of agriculture from any provisions of the interstate commerce act in their operation.

Stars of Grand Opera Sample Sidelights on Metropolitan Visitors

Real Barbecue in Annual Fete

BY PAUL STEVENSON.
The annual fete of unreason and the flow of the harmless fool, billed as the "Old Southern Barbecue" given at the Druid Hills club Wednesday afternoon in honor of the singers and singers of the Metropolitan Opera Company, came off under smiling skies at that popular social resort at the scheduled hour and brought forth some of the south's flower of society to greet the notables from the world's greatest opera center.

This feast also brought a flashing of criticism in hot doses, however, and a happy bubble of laughter that pervaded the beautiful grounds of the club during the some three hours the event lasted.

The spectacle was of great prima donna dabbles with the succulent vianth known in Georgia as barbecue pig; the interesting appearance of world renowned tenors sampling the delicate taste of roast lamb; the diverting scene of a ballet little enjoying the irresistible aroma of Brunswick stew with all the fixings and furbelows that a great virtuoso of barbecuing can produce; the picknickers of the south, who have just enjoyed the fried chicken and lemon cheese cake on an all day singing with dinner on the ground.

Visiting opera singers revelled in the entertainment. They ate, they danced, they played golf, they mingled in happy communion and apparently for the time being forgot all the differences and little ins and outs of such a great organization and laughed and commended in joyous unity.

It also was a rare diverting event for opera visitors. They obtained "close-ups" of the singers, renewed old friendships and spoke of old days and the probable events of the days to come. And after all had eaten, the entire crowd joined in a happy dance in the big ball room of the Driving club.

Long lines of expensive automobiles were parked for a mile or more around the club and the array of visitors presented a scene of relaxation and recreation.

Jazz music supplanted the heavy arias and mighty ensembles of the opera singers and the plunk-plunk of the tenor banjo added a new element to the numerous stars schooled in the classic and whose musical souls are, or should be, attuned to the musical compositions of the master.

The inevitable battery of newspaper able Tullio Serafin, whose penchant is for directing the biggest operas ever staged, will yield the baton again as conductor, after his universal success in "Aida."

In the cast will appear the now famous team of Ponselle and Lauri-Volpi, the dramatic soprano and the lyric-voiced tenor and they will have the support of some of the most distinguished members of the Metropolitan Opera company, including several who have not yet appeared during the Atlanta season.

William A. Guard, "the man with a million friends," will leave Atlanta Friday for Cleveland, Ohio, where he goes to prepare the way for the visit of the Metropolitan Opera Company to that city during the Atlanta engagement. Later a short season will be presented in Rochester, N. Y., and the veteran press representative will take a rest probably visiting Europe for a few weeks.

Similar conditions are scheduled to prevail throughout the northern portion of Georgia.

Tech High Students Sweep District Literary Contests

Tech high practically swept literary events in fifth district competition conducted here this week and will send representatives in declamation, debating and essay writing to the state meet to be held at Athens May 6 and 19, it was announced Wednesday. The Smithies scored 20 points.

Clarkston won first in spelling, the Smithies failing to place, according to announcement by W. O. Cheney, principal at Tech High and president of the district scholastic association.

Results of the Home Economics contest have not yet been announced, but Tech High's lead of 20 points assures victory regardless of who wins the remaining events. Girls' high, Fulton high, Commercial high, Clarkston high, Lithonia high, Conyers high and Douglasville high were entered in this competition.

Lithonia high was second in the contest with 11 points, getting six for runner-up in the debate and five for first place in the music contest. Clarkston high was third with 10 points, winning first in the spelling match and first in the girl's recitation. The rest of the points were scattered out among the nine other schools entered.

The summary of the entire contest follows: Declamation: First, Tech high; second, Dettlebach; third, Fulton; fourth, White; fifth, G. M. A.; Randolph Throver.

Boys' Essay Writing: First, Tech high; second, Welch Jordan; third, U. S. B. Ralph Turner; fourth, Douglasville; fifth, Burt Craig.

Debate: First, Tech high; second, Carroll and Welch Jordan; third, Lithonia; fourth, White and Randolph Mellock.

Spelling: First, Clarkston (average 79.9 per cent); second, Marist (average 74.5 per cent); third, U. S. B. (average 68.0 per cent).

Girls' Recitation: First, Clarkston; second, Emory; third, Conyers; fourth, Exa Hope; fifth, Commercial.

Girls' Essay Writing: First, Girls' high; second, Little; third, Douglasville; fourth, Bessie Davidson; fifth, Mary B. Leftwich.

Music Memory: First, Lithonia; second, Burt; third, Chamber; fourth, Evelyn Wall; fifth, Girls' high; Louise Wesley.

INCREASE REPORTED IN MISSION FUNDS

Presbyterians Announce Receipts for 1928 Are 12 Times More Than in '03.

A twelvefold increase in receipts and a sevenfold increase in the number of workers during the past 25 years were recorded in the annual report of the Assembly's Home Mission committee of the Presbyterian Church, United States, Wednesday, by Dr. Homer McMillan, general secretary of the committee.

The report will be submitted to the general assembly of the church May 16-22 at Montreal, N. C.

It states that during the year just ended the committee assisted in the support of 663 home missionaries serving 722 enterprises and through teachers and evangelists reached 298 communities, as result of which work 5,188 were added to the church on profession of faith and 2,510 by certificate, and $588,008 received for the work.

The report recommended that June 30 be the annual home mission day and that November 17-24 be the annual week of prayer and self-denial for home missions.

HACKSAWS FOUND IN TOWER; WIFE OF CONVICT HELD

After some hacksaws had been discovered in a bundle she had delivered to her husband, a convict in the Fulton tower, the wife of Joe Ray, filling station proprietor, serving a sentence for receiving a stolen automobile, was held in default of $1,000 bond on orders of Warden Robert M. Holland, of the tower Wednesday afternoon.

Ray, who already had completed three months of his 12 months sentence, was transferred to the chain-gang for the balance of his term. His wife's case will be presented to the Fulton county grand jury at the regular semi-weekly session Friday. Solicitor-General John A. Boykin said.

WALKWAY WORK THROUGH CAPITOL GROUNDS STARTS

Construction of a new walkway across the state capitol lawn to the corner of the capitol property facing the new city hall began Wednesday when Governor L. G. Hardman authorized Paul Smith, superintendent of the grounds, to start work.

TWO SPECIAL TRAINS WILL CARRY RAIL WORKERS TO PICNIC

Two special trains of 11 cars each will carry about 2,000 employees of the Southern railroad and their families to the annual Memorial Day picnic sponsored by the South Gate Club. The outing will be held at Oxford lake, near Anniston, Ala., with the Southern railway employees scheduled to leave here at 8 o'clock Friday morning and return to the city about 9 o'clock that night.

ATLANTA YOUTH FINISHES RESEARCH STUDIES AT PENN

David F. Tapp, son of Mrs. Emily Tapp, 1012 Piedmont avenue, N. E., is among the seniors of the Wharton school of finance and commerce of the University of Pennsylvania who have completed research studies successfully, considered one of the most important features of senior class work required for obtaining a diploma. Tapp is a member of the water polo team of Pennsylvania, on the business board of the Red and Blue, and a member of Kappa Nu fraternity. He is a graduate of Tech High school here.

JUSTICE HILL TO TALK

Member of Supreme Court To Address Jackson Bible Class.

Justice H. Warner Hill, of the Georgia supreme court, and one of the most widely known jurists in the south, will address the Bible classes of the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches of Jackson, Ga., Sunday morning at 9:30 in the First Methodist church auditorium, it was announced Wednesday.

ARREST IS DENIED

J. B. Harris, Engineer for Georgia Lines, Not Involved.

J. B. Harris, whose machine was investigated by police, believing they had found compartments especially constructed for transporting whisky, is not the J. B. Harris, who resides at the Kimball House and is an engineer for the Georgia railroad, he stated Wednesday. Harris, the owner of the automobile left at the city stockade, was sentenced Thursday to 30 days in the stockade on charges of disorderly conduct.

Players of Favorites Take It on Nose at Three Tracks

Second and Third Choices Lead Fields

H. P. Whitney's Entry Runs Second in Aberdeen Stakes.

New York, April 24.—(AP)—Followers of the ponies who play favorites took it on the nose today in the feature stake events of the three major tracks as second and third choices led classy fields to the wire.

H. P. Whitney's swatter, made the public choice 6 to 5 to win the Aberdeen stakes of $10,000 added at Havre de Grace, was forced to take second place, as Mrs. W. M. Jefford's filly, Good As Gold, made a show of the field of 2-year-olds at four and a half furlongs. Mrs. Jefford's entry paid $14.50 for each $2 invested.

Eddie Ambrose, up on Good As Gold, sent the filly away to an early lead and as they turned into the stretch had her up in front by eight lengths. She won by four lengths.

Fix it did just what his name indicates to land first money in the Suffolk claiming stakes, the feature event of the second day of racing at Jamaica. With the veteran jockey J. McTeargart up, the J. P. Jones' entry literally ran away from the field, winning by two lengths. Pontusur from the B. & S. stable, was second, two lengths in front of Mellican.

The Suffolk winner, which performed in Maryland with fair success, was neglected by the wise players, the oral layers quoting him at 20 to 1.

Rose of Sharon, second choice in betting, carried the colors of J. N. Camden to victory in the Ashland Oaks stake at Lexington, which was worth $3,000 to the winner. Well up from the start Rose of Sharon, under a cleverly judged ride by jockey C. E. Allen, closed up fast in the stretch to win from Thistle Fern by a neck. Ben Macree was third.

The day was saved somewhat for the favorites when Victorian, winner of the Preakness last year and recently sold to the warm stables of H. P. Whitney, won the Shenandoah stakes at Havre de Grace for four-year-olds and up. So heavily backed was Victorian that he paid only $3.40 to win. Sortie was second and Toro third in the field of six starters.

The Rancocas stable kept up its fine record of the inaugural day of racing at Jamaica by running one-two in the second event, a five-furlong sprint. Laverne Eator, who was up on two winners yesterday, sent Mokhtam home in front, leading Wu by a length. The win and place gave the Rancocas stable a record of three victories and two seconds in the two days of racing.

PREP LEAGUE GAMES TODAY

TEAM	Win.	Lost.	Pct.
Tech High	4	1	.80
Pulitzer High	4	2	.667
U. S. B.	4	1	.80
Boys' High	4	1	.80
East Point	2	4	.333
G. M. A.	2	4	.333
Marist	2	5	.286
Declarator High	1	5	.167

With Tech High on top of the pack at the beginning of the second half of prep baseball, and three teams in a scramble for the second position, several lively games are assured in the prep loop for this afternoon.

Four scheduled titles are on the docket. Even if Tech High loses the game today, they will retain their lead and should Boys' High and U. S. B. win their games, as they are expected to do, the three second place teams will still be in a tie.

However, the Smithies are expected to ride to victory behind the battery combination of Everett or Mable and Hammond or Craven.

TED AND LARRY WORK FOR BOUT

Stars of Main Battle Tuesday Night Preparing for Big Evening.

Larry Aver and Ted Goodrich, who meet in a return bout Tuesday night at the auditorium, are hard at work every day getting ready for their battle which ring experts of the city say will be a thriller.

The two pugilists are working out each afternoon at the Forsyth Athletic Club on Forsyth street. Goodrich works out at 2 o'clock, Aver works out at 3.

Willie Plomer, who will meet Tot Wilson in a 10-round bout just before the big fight of the evening, is doing his training at Athens where he is boxing instructor at the university. Having a number of pupils to look after, he manages to keep in fairly good shape.

Tot Wilson, who fought a good fight against Jack Britton in Macon recently, and claims that he has won 75 per cent of his fights by knockouts, will be in the city Friday to complete training, so Max Abelson, who is matchmaking for the American Legion, states.

Abelson also announced Wednesday that the name of the referee would be made public within a day, and said that the city in all probability would be surprised when the person was revealed.

The Goodrich-Avera fight is in the nature of a grudge affair and is being fought on a winner-take-all basis with the winner getting 60 per cent of the gross and the loser 40. A special prize will also be given the winner of the bout which is declared the best of the card.

CRAX, BARONS RESUME FIGHT

may be take one of those week-end excursions up into the first division.

BARONS DISAPPOINT. There were some poorly-concealed smiles about the circuit when it became apparent that the Barons were not going to have the hitting they got in 1928. There were quite a few of the more modest experts who were just waiting to see what the Barons would do minus the services of Bigelow, Simons, Shirley, Rosenfeld, Gerstle and Stewart, all of whom could, and did, hit the baseball powerfully and with gusto.

There was an idea, abroad in the land, that without the hitting the Barons would be as embarrassed as a skywriter suddenly run out of smoke. There were some who even hinted that the Barons might choke in the race.

Dear me! It appears that the Barons aren't going to be without their hitting. There will be no way of telling about the backbone of the Birmingham club. There is every indication that it will be made of baseballs, as usual, and that sort of a backbone is very stout, indeed. Ask the club that owns one.

OUTHIT 1928 CLUB. The Barons of 1929 have, in date, outhit the Barons of 1928. That is enough to make the anti-Baron experts break down and weep scalding tears. Not only that, but the Barons seem to have a couple of young men who can supply that punch, the kind who may break up a ball game at any moment.

Art Weiss and Peter Cooper have been hitting that baseball in a manner entirely pleasing to Baron fans and managers. Ask any manager of Birmingham who Elliott Bigelow played for in the Southern league and he will probably tell you to call up Zep Newman and ask Art Weiss, who led the Texas league in hitting in 1924, hit three home runs, one triple and two singles in three games at Rickwood field. His hitting has held up on the road. Pete Cooper is not far behind.

Johnny Dobbs, as a manager, is somewhat comparable with the late General U. S. Grant, as a general. They got the heaviest artillery and went to it.

GOOD TEACHER. But don't overlook the fact that Johnny Dobbs, while he is out there slapping his hands for a base hit, has been using his noggin in teaching the youngsters. Dobbs is one of the old-style managers who could teach the ball players something, who can see faults in fielding and batting styles and correct them. Therein lies his greatest ability. He is a very smart baseball man, is Johnny Dobbs.

Like as not he will always have good hitters. It seems to me that his teams have always hit well in the past.

Massachusetts Boys Can Play on Sunday

After a long controversy the aldermen of Somerville, Mass., have passed an ordinance permitting boys and girls to play on the athletic fields of the city parks from 2 o'clock until 6 o'clock Sunday afternoons. The original bill was once before passed but was vetoed by the mayor.

The SPOTLIGHT

Grantland Rice

A Sporting Epic.

The invasion of British golf by the American Ryder cup team recalls the big change that has taken place in the last 15 years.

In the last six years, for example, the British open has been won five times by two American home-breds—Hagen and Jones.

But 15 years ago, back in 1914, British golf was at least supreme upon its home turf. It was about that time that golf was added to the Olympic games, to be held in Berlin in 1916—games that were suddenly broken off by a more sombre series of contests that began at the borders of Belgium.

But the confidence that Great Britain felt in her golfers 15 years ago was shown after the Olympic games announcement by the following set of verses that appeared in "Punch," under the title

The Last Stand.

Fetters of sloth hang around and hobble us, Swiftly the webs are spun;

Scarce have we time ere the spiders gobble us To utter "Jack Robinson."

Chief of our shamers, we have lost our claims To excel the world at Olympic games;

We are heirs no more to the old Discobolus; We can neither leap nor run.

Where, ah, where, shall we seek asylum? How shall we gild again, Fallen and tarnished, the whilom Coronals? Frank and Dane Fetch from our brows the olive boughs Sprinters we have, but they halt like cows; And as for our chess and our chuckling the plump— Ah! stop! It is too much pain.

Thus did I muse and my heart debated Sadly about Berlin;

Here, I thought, shall the lease undated Of Albion's pride fall in!

We shall gain no goal, I said to my soul, We shall fall at the foot of the greased Pole, We shall bow our heads to the Czech, checkmated, We shall yield the palm to the Finn.

When lo! like a sunburst seen through vapor As a three days' fog clears off;

I found this par in my morning's paper, "Hellas embraces golf!"

German and Yank you may keep your swank With the quivering lath and the diver's tank, But who shall best, o'er the bunker caper, And joust in the sand-filled trough?

None, I think, but the loved of heaven Whose path is the ancient green, Whose hearts are buoyed with the seadogs' leaven, Whose brand is the iron keen;

Only the race with the brassie face That follow the spheres in a long, stern chase, That still putt out as the tars of Devon Put out to the Spaniard's teen.

Here (so carry our drivers, O Castor, Pollux our chip shots, eke) I will wager a crown to a mere piastre That Teuton and Gaul and Greek And the faraway Laps and the sledge horn Lapps Shall fall to our plus-four handicaps, And the odds shall fasten the oleaster To the blade of the British cleek.

The Big Change. These verses were written when Vardon, Taylor and Braid were still winning—when Hagen was just 21—when Bobby Jones was only 12.

There has been a vast change since the war. Hagen has been the only home living British golfer to win the British open since the brilliant Duncan won in 1920.

And in place of taking the present American invasion lightly, British golfers have gone into training for the team matches that shortly get under way at Leeds. If there are any odds they now belong on the American side when these Ryder cup matches start, and the same is true of the British open early in May.

ing in the eighth and ninth. The Crackers had won the ball game.

ROSENFIELD. Max Rosenfeld, feeling his oats, was a very great pain to the Mobile Bears, especially to Mr. Leo Mackey and George Bell. He had a perfect day at bat, getting two singles and a couple of walks in his four trips to the plate.

Not only that but he stole three bases. He would have stolen four, or attempted it, had not second base been occupied when he got on for the fourth time.

Al Lopez joined with Rosenfeld in supplying the pyrotechnics of the afternoon. With the irrepressible quality of flaming youth showing in all his actions, Al Lopez threw out Otto Durman in the fifth inning when that gentleman tried to steal second. That was the first out.

On the next play Elmer Eggert popped one up. There wasn't a chance to get it. A veteran catcher would have nonchalantly reached back to the umpire for another baseball. Al Lopez raced out, stumbled forward and stuck out his glove. The ball plopped in it and stuck.

The Crackers got but nine hits and the Bears got 12. The Crackers made their count. That was the difference.

Gehrig, Goslin Lead Big Six; Hornsby Slips

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

A barren stretch in the Cub's 15-inning defeat at Pittsburgh yesterday cost Rogers Hornsby the leadership of the Big Six. The Rajah got no hits at all in six official attempts and plunged to 34th as Lon Gehrig lifted himself to 438 and the leader with two out of four at Boston. Goose Goslin, with two out of four against the Macks, also passed Hornsby, gaining an even 400. Ruth and Paul Waner continued to languish, and Bottomley was kept inactive by rain.

10-Day Race Meet For Texas Track

Millionaire Will Stage Rich Events at Own Private Course Next Fall.

Fort Worth, Texas, April 24.—(A. P.)—W. T. Waggoner, multi-millionaire oil and cattle man, announced here today he would bring back racing to Texas this fall with a 10-day meeting at his privately owned track at Arlington, Texas.

Reports that he would establish a "Texas derby" and make it the richest race in the world by offering a purse of $150,000 were denied.

Waggoner expressed the belief that the 1931 session of the state legislature would legalize betting on horse races, now prohibited, and thus revive the sport in Texas.

While racing is not banned by law it has been effectively killed by the statute directed at wagering.

Texas Owner Plans Racing for State

New York, April 24.—(AP)—W. T. Waggoner, of Texas, owner of the Three D stable, has under consideration a plan to establish racing in his own state this fall with a $150,000 race.

Hagen Flashes Managerial Strategy in Holding Smith for Reserve

Hawkins Sees Move As Excellent One

Leaves American Team With Plenty of Reserves for Singles Matches.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

At this distance, and at this time, there seems to be no cause for fear-shedding on this side of the Atlantic about the outcome of the Ryder cup matches scheduled to open Friday on John Bull's little island.

Walter Hagen, the old master, who captains Uncle Sam's professionals on their foreign invasion, is the greatest mastermind of golf. He is the jawbreaker of the links and knows how to work his pitchers. And he has the pitchers to work, that's the beauty of the arrangement.

Hagen proved conclusively that he is a good manager when he made his announcement Wednesday regarding the lineup for the foursome matches. Horton Smith was left on the bench while Joe Turney, John Golden, Ed Dudley and some others who have not been playing as good golf as the young Missourian, were at the post. The Hags knows the value of reserve. Pinch hitters, if you like.

JUST THE TYPE.

Horton Smith is just the type to go wild in his singles match if he is called upon and there is little use to waste one day of his play in the foursomes when it is possible to play him with one of the big four. If any of the men called upon to pitch in the foursome, finds his game is on a vacation, Horton is there to do the Merrill as a relief man.

George Duncan, on the other paw, has little reserve. His first eight men are formidable. It is even possible that the end of the first day will find his team leading the field. The Britons are accustomed to this two-ball play and their surroundings will be more familiar. The return of Abe Mitchell may play a big part in the affair, while Compton, Duncan and the youthful Cotton should account for points in the foursome matches. But in the singles nothing short of fire and pestilence should keep the Americans from stepping out. Farrell, Diegel, Sarazen, Hagen, Espinosa and Smith should all take their matches.

THE BRITISH.

When Compton is good that's fine but when he is not so good he is terrible. If he is on top it will take the best in the world to beat him. Captain Duncan is the shell of a great golfer. Before George Duncan began to study golf seriously he was one of the best. Now he shoots theories rather than golf and his marksmanship is sufficient to make a boomer.

Boomer is no match for at least four of the invaders but young Cotton may come through. He has a sound game and it is his first big stand in behalf of the bloomers' colors. Abe Mitchell, who hits the longest ball in captivity, would beat the world if the payoff came on the drive, but it doesn't and that's that. The Whitcomb brothers, unlike the Smith brothers, should be easily headed in the den of the British lion. Both are good golfers on past records but it will take better than good golfers to take the Hagen crown.

There now. It's all figured out. If you don't like this dope make your own guess.

Breaks Jaw.

Tampa, Fla., April 24.—(P)—Baseball is hard on the jaws as well as the clothes. In the opinion of Catcher L. Varn, of Brookville High school, nine, chasing a high fly yesterday he collided with First Baseman Dick and was knocked unconscious. At a hospital it was found he had a broken jaw. Brookville won the game from Plant, of Tampa, 15 to 14.

SMITHIES MEET

Baylor Friday

Tech High's track team will meet Baylor Military Academy, of Chattanooga, there Friday afternoon of this week instead of McCallie School. McCallie called off the scheduled meet because it could not accommodate the visitors after one of the dormitories burned down and the meet with Baylor was hastily arranged to fill the date.

Baylor's best bet is a weight man who puts the shot 47 feet and is nearly as good in the other events. Coach Hicks has a new squad of track men out working hard, but has found little talent that will compare with his famous world-beating relay team of several years ago.

Tech High has only three letter men back on the squad now, but will probably be able to give the cadets some good competition.

Gordon Trounces

Savannah High

Barnesville, Ga., April 24.—Gordon institute defeated Savannah High here Wednesday afternoon in a one-sided game by a score of 12-1. Coach Somers' Cadets piled up the total by heavy hitting and good base running.

Savannah bats were effectively silenced by the pitching of Godfrey, Motley and Sladen.

Dave Adelman, of Georgetown university, last year's winner in the shot put at the Pennsylvania relays, is favored to capture the event again this year.

pleted the circuit on Gee's miff of Stevens' try and another single, this time by Hutchinson.

Jackets Hit.
The Jackets kept up the good work by sending Stevens around the paths in the fourth frame. Stevens drew a walk, stole second, and romped home when Hutchinson again came through with a timely single.

The sixth frame saw the downfall of the Tech hopes. Wilsher caught one of Jordan's offerings on the nose to drive it over the right field fence for four bases. Terrier drew a walk and went to third when Long got a double. Gee was thrown out at first by Jordan, and when Sanford popped to Terrell it looked as though the Jackets had gotten out light. Tankersley hit a hopper through the box, however, and beat out the throw to first while his mates were coming down the third base line to score.

Parham added the final Tech run in the seventh on the same kind of a play. With two out he tripled to deep center field. Mizell hit to short, and again the play was made at first. Mizell beat out the toss, and Parham tallied to tie the score at 4-4.

Winning Runs.

The winning runs were not long delayed. Terrier opened up the eighth inning for the Tidemen with a triple. Long filled out to Dunlap, who threw home in time for Terrier to turn and race for third. Stevens tossed in the general direction of Hobbs, but the ball hit Terrier in the back and rolled into left field to permit Terrier to score the winning run. Gee was safe on Smith's error, which was converted into a run when Sanford followed with a triple. Sanford came home on Tankersley's sacrifice fly to left field, and Howard lined to Hutchinson to end the inning and the scoring.

Sanford led the field at bat with a triple and two singles in four times at bat, driving in one run and scoring one himself. The two squads will tie up again this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

TECH GOLFEERS ON ROAD TRIP

Will Play Matches With Duke and North Carolina Teams.

Georgia Tech's golf team will leave Atlanta this afternoon on a trip which is slated to take them to Durham and Chapel Hill, both in North Carolina, for matches with the Blue Devils of Duke university and the Tarheels of the University of North Carolina.

The jacket golfers, with losses to Alabama and Florida already on the books, are anxious to keep their slate free from additional blotches which might leave them with too much of a mental handicap for the conference tourney at Asheville next month, and will be out to take the scalps of the two Carolina institutions.

Both the losses have been sustained on road trips, which may be a bad sign, but the Techsters are well on to their respective games at present and hope to come back from the trip with a good record.

Still Hitting.

Over the 50-year mark, Sam Crawford, old Tiger outfielder, is still hitting the ball on the Pacific coast.

Tough Break.

Bob Clark, who umpired in the little worlds series last fall, was taken to a Washington hospital for an operation the day before the season started.

Schmeling Denies He's Ready To Fight

Declares He Will Not Appear Until He Is Free Man Again.

Berlin, April 24.—(A. P.)—Max Schmeling today denied announcements in New York that he would sail from Hamburg for the United States Monday to box Paulino Uzcudun at the Yankee stadium June 27. He told the Associated Press that such statements were premature.

The German heavyweight boxer said he would make no move in the direction of America until acceptance of his compromise offer of 100,000 marks ($25,000) to Arthur Buelow, repudiated manager who first took him to the United States. Schmeling insisted he had decided not to fight in America until he is a "free man again, untrammelled by old ties."

BRILLIANT THROING ACCLAIMS MASSENET OPERA

'Manon' Stirs Audience by Gripping Story

Stirred to unimagined depths by the gripping story of a coquette's tragic loves as interpreted by the splendid cast from the Metropolitan Opera troupe, last evening's music-loving audience with great acclaim acknowledged the flawless presentation of Jules Massenet's heroic opera, "Manon," welcoming its revival after an absence of several years from the repertoire prepared for the Atlanta season. Sensational in its success, the presentation climaxed the week's offerings with the same enthusiastic approval received when it closed the season recently in New York. Unsurpassed social brilliance combined with a great musical triumph to make the occasion an outstanding one in the annals of southern culture, a fashionable and appreciative audience filling the vast auditorium to its very eaves. Tenderly reminiscent of other years, consistent opera-goers recalled the vivid presence of lovely Lucrezia Bori in the title role and found added charm in her interpretation of "Manon" last evening. Always a favorite in whatever part she chooses to essay, the lovely soprano's exquisite voice found its vehicle in the gay music in which the noted French composer recorded the romantic story. In point of size last evening's cast was the largest so far presented by the Metropolitan and in point of stellar attraction it was of the first magnitude. The role of Manon's young lover, the Chevalier des Grieux, was interpreted by Beniamino Gigli, the two favorites being greeted by a riotous ovation in the lovely duets which go far toward making the work so popular. Few composers have enjoyed Massenet's success in humanizing the characters of their operas, and with the combined aid of the Spanish diva and the famous tenor, they became more real than the realst heroines and heroes of fiction. Giuseppe De Luca, as Lescaut, was another favorite of the cast, his histrionic ability vying for honors and applause with his resonant baritone. George Cehanovsky, the dashing De Bretigny, another of Manon's lovers, found instant approval with Atlanta opera-goers, winning many new admirers. The matinee idol of the company, his handsome Russian features, courtly manner and rich baritone voice proved quite irresistible to the feminine portions of the audience, and surrounded by an aura of romantic courage, he fitted admirably as one of the stunning courtiers in the colorful scenes of the second empire.

Minor Roles.
Others in the cast taking roles of minor importance included Aida Doninelli as Ponsette, Minnie Eganer as Javotte, Dorothea Flexer as Rosette, Leon Rothier as Count de Grieux, Angelo Bada as Guillot, Paolo Anania as the inn-keeper, Vincenzo Roschiglian and Giordano Palmirani as guards, Louis D'Angelo as an archer, and Gina Gola as a servant. Under the direction of Louis Hasselmann as conductor, the delightful score of the opera, gay and tuneful, became a pleasant and never-to-be-forgotten memory in the minds of the large assemblage of southern music lovers.

The large and appreciative audience lacked nothing in color and brilliance, the brightly illuminated auditorium presenting a scene of riotous beauty. Diaphanous chiffons and filmy tulle were tied for favor with gleaming satins, rich velvets and brocades in the handsome costumes of the feminine contingent present. Every tint of the spectrum was represented in the kaleidoscopic array as society matrons, pretty debutantes and vivacious sub-pretty promenaded between the acts with their escorts. Jewels and flowers, always necessary adjuncts to feminine beauty, formed the perfect finish to the stunning toilettes effected by the ardent devotees of music and art.

Handsome Gowns.
Mrs. H. M. Atkinson wore a Paquin model of pink lace beaded in pink crystal beads. Her evening wrap was of black chiffon velvet lined with white brocade finished with a collar of white fox. A shoulder spray of orchids completed her toilette.

Mrs. Mayhew Cunningham, of Savannah, wore a Lanvin model of egg-shell velvet, embroidered in rhinestones. Her evening wrap of egg-shell velvet lined with gold and black chiffon had a deep collar of sable. A shoulder spray of gardenias completed her toilette.

Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., wore a Parisian model of egg-shell satin, made on long lines. A shoulder spray of red roses matched her slippers of the same shade of red moire. Her evening wrap was of egg-shell velvet lined with turquoise chiffon, and a collar of natural fox.

Mrs. Walter J. Judd, of Detroit, was gowned in a Parisian model of flame-colored velvet, combined with gold metal cloth, emphasizing the straight lines. Her evening wrap was of black chiffon velvet lined with gold metal brocade. A corsage of Capucine orchids completed her costume.

Mrs. William E. Moss, of Detroit, wore a Callot model of the new Nil flower-shade in chiffon embroidered in natural shades of metal threads. An evening wrap of gold metal cloth with a collar of sable was worn with this costume. Her flowers were Capucine orchids.

Miss Bryan's Costume.
Miss Mary Cox Bryan, of Clemson, S. C., wore a Preme model of lacquer red chiffon, ingeniously cut drapery back and front. Her evening coat was also a Preme model of lacquer red ostella cloth, having a shawl collar of the same material. She wore a shoulder spray of gardenias.

Mrs. R. B. Crabbs, of Cincinnati, wore a Lanvin model of egg-shell satin embroidered in pearls and crystals. Her evening wrap was also a Lanvin creation of black velvet lined with egg-shell satin and a deep collar of ermine. A shoulder spray of gardenias and valley lilies completed her costume.

Mme. Lucrezia Bori To Be Honored By Mrs. John E. Murphy Tomorrow

Mme. Lucrezia Bori, charming prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and a friend of many years standing of Mrs. John E. Murphy, gracious chatelaine of Hillcrest, her home on Peachtree street, will be honored guest at the tea, given by Mrs. Murphy, Friday afternoon, April 26, at 4 o'clock. Extending this complimentary to Mme. Bori has been an annual custom of Mrs. Murphy, an invitation to which is always anticipated by society with unusual delight.

As the fascinating opportunity is presented to meet the opera star within the portals of this hospitable home. Mme. Bori sings in La Traviata Saturday evening, this tuneful opera bringing to a close the nineteenth season of grand opera in Atlanta, with the strains of her exquisite voice lingering in memory throughout the next twelve months her role of Violetta making strong appeal to music lovers foregoing in the auditorium to hear the last dulcet notes of her glorious voice.

Contingent at Ft. McPherson Enjoys Brilliant Season of Grand Opera

Fort McPherson, April 24.—The opera with its brilliance and beauty has proved the mecca for music lovers throughout the country and members of the military contingent are motoring into Atlanta each night to attend their favorite production. Monday evening Mrs. John E. Murphy, Helen Le Favour and Mrs. Clyde Abraham attended the opera to hear the well-loved "Lucrezia Bori" as Magna in "La Rondine," while Tuesday evening Mrs. A. E. Cannon and Miss Carlotta Hamilton, of New York, motored Atlanta to hear Verdi's colorful "Aida" with Rosa Ponselle in the lead.

Wednesday the baritone at Druid Hills in honor of the visiting opera stars proved alluring to members of the military set and prominent members attended the affair, including Major General and Mrs. Richmond Pearson Davis, Brigadier General and Mrs. Abraham G. Lott, Colonel and Mrs. Fitzhugh Lee, Major and Mrs. Richard Donovan, Major and Mrs. Hans R. W. Herwig, and Major and Mrs. Roland Gaugler. Captain and Mrs. Henry W. Robinson have as their guests Mrs. Oscar DeMille Yarbrough, of Baltimore, Md., and Miss Mabel Sanders, of Brewton, Ala. Mrs. Yarbrough and Miss Sanders arrived Wednesday and will remain in Atlanta during opera week. Mrs. Robinson is planning an afternoon entertainment in honor of her guests, the date to be announced later. Lieutenant and Mrs. A. M. Parsons entertained the members of their bridge club at their quarters Tuesday evening. Tables were arranged for eight players. After several rubbers of bridge delicious refreshments were served. Of interest to the garrison personnel is the arrival of Mrs. Edward Fretwell, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Susan Hansell, of Fort Oglethorpe, who are charming opera visitors, dividing their stay between visits in Atlanta with friends and at the post as the guests of Lieutenant and Mrs. I. H. Joffe. Mrs. A. E. Cannon, of Camp McClellan, Ala., and Miss Carlotta Hamilton, of New York, arrived at the war department will cause the departure of Captain and Mrs. Samuel C. Harrison for Captain Harrison's new station at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Captain and Mrs. Harrison and Frank Harrison will leave in late June for a motor trip through Florida before reporting to their new station.

Atlanta belles and charming matrons were patronesses at grand opera last evening when Massenet's melodious "Manon" was sung by the Metropolitan Opera Company in the auditorium. Reading from left to right, upper row, the music lovers include Miss Angel Allen, Mrs. Robert L. Cooney, who possesses an exquisite soprano voice, while Mrs. John Spalding May is pictured at the extreme right. Miss Rena Candler, another music lover and pretty young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard Candler (the former being vice president and treasurer of the Atlanta Music Festival Association), is in the oval. La Gioconda Opera in four acts by Amilcare Ponchielli. Libretto by Arrigo Boito, an adaptation from Victor Hugo's drama, "Angelo." First produced at La Scala, Milan, on April 8, 1876. Later rewritten by Boito. American premiere at New York on December 20, 1883. Revived by Metropolitan Opera Company on December 25, 1913.

MEMORABILIA

"La Gioconda" was written in the days when melody predominated in opera. When a good opera had plenty of haunting tunes. When queer harmonies and strangled orchestration had not been conceived. Strong in emotional appeal, with beautiful colored orchestrations and dramatic in its story, it is universal in its appeal.

The most famous music in the entire score is, of course, the ballet, "The Dance of the Hours," in the first scene of the third act.

The Story

The scene is a street in Venice, in the seventeenth century. It is a spring holiday and we see a brilliantly dressed crowd in the grand courtyard of the ducal palace. At the rear is the giant staircase and the Portico della Carta, with a door leading into the jewel-blazing Church of St. Mark. A public letter writer is seen in the crowd with his writing table and there is an opening in one of the walls for the disposal of those secret denunciations against any person which could be made to the Inquisition.

Barnaba, a spy of the Inquisition, watches the people dance and, knowing that the prisons of the Inquisition are located beneath the paving, ironically remarks they are dancing above their graves.

La Gioconda, a ballad singer, beautiful and young, brings her blind mother, La Cieca, to sit in the sun. She turns to follow the crowd, which has started for the Adriatic shore to watch a regatta, when Barnaba stops her and says he loves her. She is angry and afraid and runs away while the blind mother, thinking her daughter in danger, screams for help.

Barnaba, seeking revenge, tells Zuane, defeated competitor in the regatta, that the reason he lost was because La Cieca bewitched him. The superstitious mob attacks the blind woman, whose appeals for help are answered by La Gioconda and Enzo Grimaldo, a noble young man who is secretly loved by La Gioconda.

Enzo drives back the mob and then the Grand Duke Alvise, with his wife, Laura, enters the scene. Through Laura's pleading, La Cieca is saved and in gratitude she gives the duchess her rosary.

The crowd follows the duke off stage, leaving Enzo and Barnaba alone. To Enzo's astonishment, Barnaba addresses him by his proscribed title, "Prince of Santa Fior."

Enzo loves Laura, wife of the duke, and Barnaba tells him Laura will meet him on his ship that evening. He doesn't like Barnaba but is grateful for the information.

After Enzo goes, Barnaba dictates a letter to the Grand Duke, to the public letter writer, in which he tells of the love between Laura and Enzo.

La Gioconda and her mother overhear and watch Barnaba drop the letter in the

As Enzo appears and the crew goes below, Barnaba hides. Enzo, alone on the deck, sings the aria, "Heaven and Ocean," telling of his happiness at the trust with Laura.

A boat glides up to the ship and Laura steps on board. There is a love scene and the two agree to sail away together as soon as the wind rises.

Enzo is called below and Laura, alone on

ACT III.
This is the palace of the Duke Alvise, the "house of gold." A great festival is in progress, but Alvise is thinking instead of the revenge he has planned to execute before all his guests.

Laura, attired for the ball, enters and Alvise tells her she must die. Her pleadings are in vain and she is thrown down, dragged to an adjoining room and shown a funeral bier already waiting to receive her. Alvise gives her a goblet of poisoned wine which she is ordered to drink before the next dance. He then goes to greet his guests.

La Gioconda again appears and empties the poisoned wine into a bottle, filling the goblet instead with a harmless sleeping potion.

Here comes the "Dance of the Hours" as part of the grand ball.

After the famous dance, Barnaba rushes in, with Enzo, dragging in La Cieca. Barnaba charges she was working witchcraft but she insists she was merely praying for the dead.

Enzo approaches Alvise and takes off his mask. Alvise tells of the fate he has decreed for Laura and, throwing back the curtains shows her lying, apparently dead, upon the bier.

ACT IV.

A ruined palace on the bank of the Orfano canal. Laura still asleep, is carried in, and, at La Gioconda's command, is laid upon an old couch. La Gioconda has agreed to marry Barnaba on condition the spy helps Enzo and Laura to escape. She sings here a famous aria, "Suicide Only Remains."

Enzo, freed from prison by Barnaba, appears. Thinking Laura dead, he is prepared to kill himself and turns also against La Gioconda. But the entrance of the restored Laura prevents violence. After giving La Gioconda her mother's rosary, Enzo and Laura go off together.

Then comes Barnaba to claim his reward. Overcome with passion for the lovely street singer, he seizes her in his arms, but, as he does so, she stabs herself with her dagger. "La Gioconda is thine," she cries.

Barnaba stoops over her and howls: "Last night your mother offended me. I have strangled her." But the girl is already dead and Barnaba rushes off into the night as the curtain descends.

Corps de Ballet of the Metropolitan Opera Company, under the direction of Rita de la Porte. They will appear in "Aida," Tuesday evening; "La Gioconda," Thursday evening; "Faust," Friday evening, and "La Traviata," Saturday evening, reaching the climax probably on Thursday in the famous "Dance of the Hours" in "La Gioconda."

anonymous Inquisition receptacle. La Gioconda, jealous of Laura, hating Enzo because she can't win his love, and hating Barnaba, dreams of her own revenge to come.

ACT II.

We see a lagoon near Venice with Enzo's ship tied at the quay. The sailors are singing and joking at their work. Barnaba appears disguised as a fisherman, with Isepo, the letter writer. Seeing the number of men in Enzo's crew he sends Isepo for help. Barnaba sings a song which the sailors applaud.

the deck, kneels at an altar. La Gioconda creeps out from a hiding place on the ship and advances on Laura, cursing. "Who are you?" cries Laura, afraid. "I am a Shadow—I am Vengeance," is the reply.

Then La Gioconda tells her sorrows to Laura. She points a dagger at her rival's breast, when the sight of the rosary reminds her this is the woman who saved her blind mother's life.

La Gioconda then pulls Laura into another boat, just before Barnaba and his men, soldiers of the Duke Alvise, rush on board and seize Enzo. Enzo, as he is captured, sets fire to the ship.

PONCHIELLI'S 'LA GIOCONDA' TO DELIGHT OPERA GOERS

Social Calendar Continues To Grow in Interest Daily

The social calendar continues to grow in interest as the days go by, the opera coming first in importance, preceded by the festivities planned for visitors and opera stars, with the artists' costume ball at the Piedmont Driving Club bringing to a close one of the most brilliant 24 hours making-up the opera season of 1929. Ponchielli's marvelous opera, "La Gioconda," will be sung in Italian by the Metropolitan Opera Company at the auditorium this evening by an all-star cast, including Rosa Ponselle, the glorious soprano and that golden-voiced tenor, Lauri-Volpi, whose magnificent notes so well pleased the audience last Tuesday evening. Others in the cast are Marion Tetva, Ezio Pinza, Henriette Wakefield, Giuseppe Danise, Vincenzo Reschiglian, Giordano Patrino, Louis D'Angelo and Millo Picco. Tullio Serafin will conduct the opera and the "Dance of the Hours," led by Rita del Porto, will be interpreted by the graceful ballet. Honoring Mrs. Walter J. Judd and Mrs. William E. Moss, of Detroit, Mich., fete guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn, Mrs. C. H. Becker will entertain at a luncheon at the Brookhaven Country Club, one of the handsomest buildings in the south in which fashionable society has assembled all this week to enjoy the hospitality offered by Atlanta hosts and hostesses. Mr. and Mrs. Veazey Rainwater have issued invitations for luncheon today at picturesque "Dogwood Terrace," their home on Springdale road in Druid Hills, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Giuseppe De Luca, members of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who sang last evening in Massenet's "Manon," and will sing the role of Plunkett in Flotow's "Marta" at Saturday's matinee.

Miss Crockett and Mr. Pruitt Wed at Lovely Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Jeanne Ruth Crockett, daughter of Mrs. Roy Crockett, to Robert Grady Pruitt was solemnized at 4 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Montelle drive. The Rev. Wade H. Boggs, pastor of the Druid Hills Presbyterian church, performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of a representative gathering of relatives and friends.

The lovely home, which was thrown in suite, was decorated in a profusion of cut flowers. The improvised altar was banked with palms, and ferns against which tall standards of gladioli stood in bold relief. Cathedral rambler holding slender burning tapers flanked the altar.

An appropriate program of nuptial music was rendered by Alfred Dwight Hutton, who sang "O Promise Me" and "Requiem," accompanied on the piano by Arthur Thomas Neal, Lohengrin's "Wedding Chorus" was used as the processional.

Miss Opal Crockett, sister of the bride, who acted as maid of honor, wore a becoming bouffant model with light yellow tulle waist and graceful full skirt of uneven hemline. She carried a sheaf of roses and snapdragons tied with streamers of matching shade.

The lovely bride, who entered with her mother, Mrs. Roy Crockett, by whom she was given in marriage, was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Guy Henry. She was never more lovely than in her wedding gown of flesh chiffon, fashioned with long tight waist, introducing an effective cape collar, and graceful full skirt featuring two flounces. She carried a magnificent bouquet of yellow and pink roses and lilies of the valley, tied with streamers of flesh colored ribbon.

Mrs. Crockett wore a model of rose beige chiffon, fashioned along straight lines. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas and roses.

Mrs. George W. Pruitt, mother of the groom, wore a model of printed chiffon offset with a shoulder bouquet of rose buds and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Roy Crockett. The receiving party included Mrs. Crockett, mother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Pruitt, parents of the groom; Mrs. Alfred Hutton, Mrs. J. G. Lee and Mrs. A. T. Neal. Assisting in entertaining were Miss Willie Crockett, who kept the bride's book, and Miss Emma Mae Crockett.

Following the reception the young couple left for a trip to Florida. The bride wore a becoming ensemble featuring blouse of ashy green, with a green felt hat to match. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Pruitt will make their home with Mrs. Roy Crockett, mother of the bride, on Montelle drive.

Mrs. Lucian H. Cocke, of Virginia, Is Visiting at Georgian Terrace

Among the most notable visitors in Atlanta during this week is Mrs. Lucian H. Cocke, of Roanoke, Va., who is with her sister, Mrs. Wellborn Hill, at the Georgian Terrace, and is en route to Birmingham, Ala. A former Atlantan, famed for her repartee and brilliant conversation, Mrs. Cocke moved to Roanoke twenty years ago, her marriage to the late Mr. Cocke having united two of the most aristocratic and prominent families in the south. Possessing unusual literary ability and having established herself in this field through her books, "Mammy Stories of the South" and "Master of the Hills," published by E. P. Dutton, she has been commended by this firm to build a story woven around her life, which is indeed founded upon interesting contacts with distinguished personages. Mrs. Cocke has also contributed to the Saturday Evening Post and Century Magazine, signing her articles as Sarah Johnson Cocke.

On June 4, on commencement day to be exact, Mrs. Cocke will journey from Roanoke to Lexington, Va., to witness the unveiling of a bronze bust of her husband, the ceremony taking place in Lee Memorial chapel, at Washington and Lee university, and to be unveiled by Miss Lela Cocke, 13-year-old daughter of Charles Francis Cocke, who is a brilliant lawyer, having followed in the footsteps of his father. The late Mr. Cocke was president of the board of directors of Washington and Lee, from which he was graduated, the statue picturing him in his academic robes. Years ago, when Roanoke was a township of twenty thousand, its inhabitants elected the late Mr. Cocke the first mayor of that city. Harry St. George Tucker, member of congress from the Rockbridge district, said in tribute to Mr. Cocke before the Virginia board of education: "I have known him all my life, and never found in him a fault, and always felt I could follow him blindly and never go wrong." The permanent place for this statue will be in the library of Washington and Lee, the significance of the ceremony of its unveiling taking place in Lee Memorial chapel being given historic value. Hollins college was founded in 1842 by Charles L. Cocke, father of the late Mr. Cocke, an outstanding educator of the south.

DID NOT FEEL LIKE WORKING

When Constipation Ails Him, Construction Superintendent Takes Black-Draught.

Pulaski, Va.—Mr. E. W. Cecil, the superintendent of construction of the county schools here, says he has been a user of Theodor's Black-Draught for thirty years and has found it "a splendid medicine."

"When I first began taking it," says Mr. Cecil, "I was suffering with indigestion, a tightness and smothering in the chest. Any one who has had this trouble knows what a disagreeable feeling it is, and what a relief it is, to find something to help him."

"I found Black-Draught would relieve me, when taken in small doses, and that is how I began using it."

"I also take Black-Draught for constipation. When I get constipated, my head aches, and I have that dull, tired feeling, just not equal to my work. I don't feel hungry, and I know that I need something to cleanse my system, so I take Black-Draught."

"It has been a kind of a household remedy for my family. We have found it to be a great help, all these years."

Artists' Ball at Biltmore Hotel Attracts Stars and Operagoers

Immediately following the Metropolitan Opera Company's presentation of Massenet's "Manon," Atlanta society repaired to the Biltmore hotel last evening for the annual artists' ball at which the hospitable hotel plays host during the city's season of grand opera. Several hundred guests assembled in the main dining room of the hotel to greet the members of the incomparable Metropolitan troupe who were honor guests of the evening, the stars mingling freely and cordially with their numerous admirers among southern music lovers.

A group of out-of-town visitors added gaiety and interest to the occasion, which was one of the outstanding events of the opera social program. Decorations in the handsome dining room were myriads of vari-colored spring flowers, featuring all the loveliest of the rainbow tints. The individual tables where the guests were seated in congenial groups were adorned with French baskets filled with pink snapdragons and butterfly roses.

The artists' table was placed at the southern end of the room and was elaborately decorated with spring flowers. Down the center of table placed at intervals were five iron knelt baskets which were filled with blue bird peas, blue flowers-de-lis, Claudia Pernet roses, yellow snapdragons, lilies of the valley and maidenhair ferns.

Among the prominent artists seated at the table were Mmes. Lucezia Bori, Rosa Ponselle, Queena Mario, Louise Lerch, Edna Venturi, Marion Tetra, Julia Clausen, Henriette Wakefield, Dorothea Flexer, Ina Bourskaya, Charlotte Ryan, Edith Fleischer, Phyllis Falcio, Mianie Brenner, Aida Donnellini and Mr. and Mrs. Giuseppe De Luca, Mario Basola, Giacomo Lauri-Volpi, Alfio Tedesco, Beniamino Gigli, Edoardo Johnson, Giuseppe Danise, Pavel Ludikar, Ezio Pinza, Leon Rothier, Millio Picco, Lawrence Tibbett, George Melmanovsky, Joseph Mapherston, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jagel, Mr. and Mrs. Armand Tokatyan. Other members of the company who were present included Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hipselmann, Mr. and Mrs. Vincenzo Bellezza, Tullio Serafin, Carlos Edwards, Wilfrid Teller, Miss Suzanne Zepher, Edward Ziegler, M. Jundels, Carl Lewis, Billy Guard, G. A. Baldini, G. Surani, Frank Garichis, Miss Rita De Lepore, Giulio Setti, Armando Agnini, Herman Schaad, G. Strani, Edith Frilick, Mr. J. Heastlet and Burthold Neuer.

Featuring the entertainment of the evening, was a male chorus of 20 voices of the Metropolitan cast, each in colorful costume, who rendered popular selections from such well-known favorites as "Der Freischutz," "Faust," "Il Trovatore" and "Rigoletto" with Assistant Chorus Master Clara conducting, with Carlos Edwards at the piano.

Among the many delightful parties which assembled at the Biltmore of opera-goers, was that at which Mr. and Mrs. Russell Whitman were hosts. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Harrington and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Woodruff.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Toler and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seydler formed a congenial party dining together. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brownlee entertained Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Almond, Dr. and Mrs. Charles P. Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Edell Janke and Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Page.

Forming a party were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Horwitz, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hirsch, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hirsch and Mr. and Mrs. Edell Janke.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Phillips, Jr., of Orlando, Fla., had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Phillips, Sr., and George Lacraing, of Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. Oscar Elsas was hostess at a large party in compliment to a group of New York visitors, including Mrs. M. A. Rothchild, Mrs. Walter Wolff, and Mrs. Fred Barnett. Covers were placed for 15 guests.

Mrs. Hildreth Presents Pupils in Recital.

Miss Astin Weds Harold Alderman At Quiet Ceremony

A wedding of wide interest is that of Miss Mary Elizabeth Astin and Harold LaFayette Alderman, which was solemnized Saturday evening, April 20, at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Astin. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the two families, and a limited number of friends.

The bride wore a becoming model of liberty blue crepe, with sand-colored hat. The bride's shoulder bouquet was of white roses and valley lilies.

The bride's maid of honor was Miss Mamie Schwarz, who wore a gown of shell pink crepe, with a shoulder bouquet of butterfly roses and lilies of the valley. Mr. Alderman's best man was Robert Bates, of Atlanta.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Alderman, of Brooklet, Ga. After a motor trip through Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Alderman will be at home in Jacksonville.

SEEK INJUNCTION IN ABANDONMENT OF FLORIDA ROUTE

Dawson, Ga., April 24.—(AP)—A petition has been filed in Terrell superior court by E. M. Hollingsworth, E. C. Paschal and T. B. Raines seeking to enjoin the board of commissioners of Terrell county and the state highway board from abandoning the Florida route, a state aid highway which was surveyed, relocated and constructed in 1922, from Sasser to the Dougherty county line, and from relocating this link of the highway on a proposed route from Sasser to the Lee county line.

It also asked that the defendants be enjoined from spending any money belonging to Terrell county, either bond money or money derived from any other source, for the purpose of grading or paving any portion of the Lee county route and from using the Terrell county convicts, road hands and machinery for grading or paving any part of the road.

BROYLES TO SPEAK AT CEDARTOWN MEMORIAL DAY

Cedartown, Ga., April 24.—(Special).—B. C. Broyles, well known Atlanta attorney, will deliver the memorial address at Cedartown on Friday, April 26, and the ladies of the Daughters of the Confederacy have prepared a splendid program for this occasion.

The exercises will be under the direction of Mrs. Harry Trumbo, president of the U. D. C. Chapter of Cedartown, and will include a dinner to the surviving veterans, their wives, and the widows of deceased Confederate soldiers, a custom which has been long established in Cedartown, and after the exercises the graves will be decorated with flowers by the ladies.

The memorial exercises will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning and a number of residents of Atlanta will come to Cedartown to be present on this occasion.

Atlanta.

The absorbing story of the revolt of a suppressed young New England girl is unfolded in "What a Woman

Wants," the DeWitt Newing comedy drama success, which is presented at the Atlanta theater this week by the Fulwider All-Star Players. Miss

Marian Grant, lovely leading lady of the company, plays the part of the revolving miss. Miss Grant is seen in this play as a very eager young woman.

"Showboat," which begins at the Capitol Sunday with a midnight matinee, not only has the Ziegfelds, but

Aunt Jemima, Helen Morgan and

Jules Blüchle, singing the Jerome

Kern musical hits from the Broadway show, but Laura LaPlante, Universal's beautiful blond star, sings and talks also. Miss LaPlante sings "Can't Help Lovin' That Man" and "O' Man

River" during the action of the story, which was made by Universal from Edna Ferber's famous best seller.

Howard.

Jeanne Eagels, the emotional actress who won wide fame in Somerset

Maughan's stage production, "Rain," makes her debut on the talking screen

at the Howard this week in another

Maughan play, "The Letter," which furnishes her equally as great a role as the former. On the stage Al Short and the band are offering "Skule

Loew's Capitol this week. It is the starring William Haines, featured at pictured version of the popular Saturday Evening Post story of that name. For fast moving action the picture has not been excelled in recent months. Nick Cassa and Elsie

Leba, with a fast stepping chorus, present an ensemble of dancing, music and comedy as the headline offering on the live-action bill of Loew vaudeville. Also there is a Metro Move-tione sound subject, with other screen features on the program.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.

Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, April 24.—(AP)—North American wheat export business estimated at high as 4,000,000 bushels in the last 48 hours gave grain values a decided new upturn today. Purchasing of wheat for Spain alone was said to equal four months' requirements.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at 3-4 cents to 2-4 cents net advance. Corn finished 1 cent to 1-2 cents higher, oats 3-8 cent to 7-8 cent up, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 12 cents.

With export dealings on a mammoth scale and with Liverpool wheat quotations today much higher than due to the wheat market to Chicago displayed pronounced strength. Liquidating sales here on the part of holders of May contracts who preferred to avoid re-negation of approaching deliveries did a good deal at times to bring about reactions from the day's top prices.

But the wheat market, continuing to fail to hinder subsequent rallies. Meanwhile, future delivery demand as a whole was of a board general character on contract and cash sales of domestic hard winter and of durum wheat being included.

Advices telling of delayed seedling of spring wheat in Montana and in North Dakota and Montana, counted as a further stimulus today to friends of higher prices.

Corn, oats and rye sympathized with the advance of wheat. Besides, yesterday's unusual selling pressure on corn had subsided and rains were threatening today to hamper planting, already late in some sections of the corn belt, notably Iowa. Talk of a drought in the acreage would be curtailed as a result of delays to seedling.

Provisions averaged higher. Packers buying more corn and hogs at lower quotations on hogs.
